Avlite Joins “Team Australia” as Part of Australian Government Defence Initiative

Avlite Systems has recently been approved as part of “Team Australia”, an initiative developed by the Australian Government Department of Defence to promote Australia’s innovative defence and securities technologies. Key features of companies listed include the supply of high quality, sustainable solutions to valued customers worldwide.

Avlite manufactures and distributes a wide range of solar LED aviation lighting specifically designed for military operation in some of the worlds most demanding environments. Major customers include the Australian Defence Force, and the US Army - who rely on Avlite Systems solar-powered airfield lighting systems for much of their Iraq operations.

Team Australia members respond to the demanding needs of today’s military forces through the development of world-leading technological solutions that meet the Australian Government’s stringent procurement requirements.

The Australian Department of Defence endorse Team Australia member products as being reliable, hardy, cost-effective and state-of-the-art solutions to worldwide defence and security operations.

For further information about the range of Avlite products, please contact Avlite Systems Business Development Manager, Mr. Roger Preece (r.preece@avlite.com).
