Avlite Systems Announces New Organisational Structure for Global Sales and Customer Service Roles

Somerville, Victoria, Australia – 29 July 2016 — Building on our successful history of providing the most innovative Airfield, Heli and Obstruction Lighting Solutions around the world, Avlite Systems today announces an updated sales organisational structure. These changes are designed to further enhance customer service by investing in dedicated resources to solely focus on the aviation market and its customer segments.

Global Organisation Changes

The company is reorganising its global sales team by adding and realigning resources across the globe to enhance its structure. Investments have been made with the hiring and promotion of staff, and realigning parts of our global sales team with existing staff including the appointment of Wade Evans to the role of Global Solutions Engineer. This new organisational structure will underpin our aim to deliver customer excellence.

“Our team will be more responsive, agile and better positioned than ever before to service our customers with these organisational changes,” said Tara Stewart, Head of Global Sales & Marketing, Avlite Systems.
