Avlite Presenting at Australian Airport Association Pavement and Lighting Forum 2019

Somerville, Victoria, Australia – April 17, 2019 — Avlite Systems announce that Vicky Clarke, Sales Engineer, will be presenting at the Australian Airport Association Airfield Pavement and Lighting Forum, to be held on Wednesday 15 and Thursday 16 May 2019.

Vicky is presenting a case study into Solar Airfield Lighting Solutions at Chatham Islands, New Zealand. She will identify the complexities of the project encountered due to the remote location whilst explaining the specific solution provided to modernise the regional airport.

"There is a constant need to provide the best quality Airfield Lighting Solutions that meet the extreme weather conditions experienced by all runways. Avlite continues to be at the forefront with constant research and development based on decades of experience as demonstrated by our installation in Chatham Islands", said Vicky Clarke, Sales Engineer at Avlite Systems.

Avlite Systems is committed to improving navigation through technology and has a strong relationship with the Australian Airports Association (AAA) and with the Airfield Pavement and Lighting Forum, the pre-eminent Australian and New Zealand training event. This forum is a vital part of the AAA's commitment to providing the aviation industry with comprehensive technical training. The forum has an ever-increasing audience, with over 240 industry representatives expected to share expertise.

Avlite supplies airfield, heliport and obstruction lights that offer energy and cost-effective lighting solutions, specifically designed for their respective applications. Our comprehensive range of Airfield Lighting Solutions and accessories assists pilots with visual guidance and safe navigation, using the latest LED technology.
